Fast Video Player also features a built-in playlist system, with support for playlists of any length and any number of playlists. Key Features: Key Features of Fast Video Player: Import Videos from Video Files with Playlist Support Fast Video Player can search your computer for video files and play them directly. You can define the file types to be searched and add them to a playlist for easier playback. It allows you to easily edit the playlist by changing the order of the items, and make your view of the media show a picture instead of a scrollable list. Playlist System with Easy Playlist Editing The playlist system in Fast Video Player is easy to use, and supports multiple playlists. A wide range of options allow you to customize the playlist in any way, including a variety of easy-to-use filters and the ability to add an unlimited number of media files to the playlist. Playlist Trimming and Removal Clean up your playlist by trimming the items in a playlist down to a manageable size. When you remove items from a playlist, they remain in the playlist, but only show when the playlist is expanded, so you don't have to worry about accidentally deleting an important item. Playlist Assemblies Fast Video Player uses a special XML file format called VPM to store and playlists. It creates a list of VPM files, each with one or more media items, into a single file which is called an assembly. You can add as many media items as you need to your playlist, and simply drag and drop an assembly onto Fast Video Player, and it will automatically create a playlist from it. Filters You can add one or more predefined rules to your playlist to filter the media items in it. For example, if you have a large number of video files, you can create a filter to include only the most recent 20 files created or the most popular 20 files on your computer. You can use the same filter in multiple playlists. Auto-Mount Volumes and Pictures 09e8f5149f

It seems that you can control the wireless keyboard and mouse through Microsoft's Mouse Lock software (which is installed automatically when you download the Mouse Lock software). Mouse Lock Download: The software seemed to work well for many people. However, for me, the software couldn't change the brightness of my laptop screen or the taskbar. The taskbar still turns on-and-off. The screen still blanks-and-blanks. I had to completely remove the software and reinstall it to fix this. I hope a future version of the software lets you control the laptop's screen brightness, as well as the taskbar. Mouse Lock Download: Mouse Lock was easy to use, but I couldn't make it work.
